FIVE CENTS

At Least 47 Killed, Many Injured In Wreck
Political Battle Over State Taxes Moves To House Today

Both Sides Try To Shift Levy Blame

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22 (P)—A 3 per cent sales tax may come to a vote in the Democratic-controlled House this week.

Its chances of passage, however, appeared tonight to hinge largely around the question of whether Republican and Democrats can agree on its provisions and on an overall solution of the 13-month tax deadlock.

The measure up for consideration is a Republican-sponsored bill which the GOP House leadership has disavowed because the Democrats increased the rate from 2 to 3 per cent.

No Prediction

Rep. Albert S. Readinger, Democratic floor leader, declined to predict the outcome of the sales tax vote, but said there would be at least 15 Democratic votes for it. Rep. Charles C. Smith, Republican floor leader, said there would be no GOP votes for the levy at the 3 per cent rate. A vote of 106 is necessary to pass a bill in the House.

The sales tax bill is in position for debate and amendment tomorrow, with a vote on passage scheduled for Tuesday.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Earl E. Hewitt, Sr. (R-Indiana) would exempt only take-home food, religious articles and subjects already taxed by the state, such as liquor and cigarettes. Democrats estimate it would produce 400 million dollars at the increased rate.

Readinger said the Democratic majority would insist upon the 3 per cent rate, unless Republicans would agree to make a 2 per cent sales tax part of a tax package to include also a 2 per cent personal net income levy.

Readinger said the Democratic House leadership would call for a vote on the 3 per cent sales tax Tuesday unless the GOP assumes joint responsibility for a tax program.

Two Percent

"I'll go along with a reduction in the sales tax rate to 2 per cent with amendments acceptable to Senate Republicans," Readinger said. "Such a sales tax, however, would produce only 150 million dollars in the balance of the biennium and the bill would have to be accompanied by a 2 per cent personal net income tax and some other business taxes to provide the revenue we need."

Some Republican House members reported there was some sentiment in the GOP House caucus for Gov. Leader's 50-50 proposal under which Republicans and their own tax program to raise half of the needed revenue and the two sides combine to pass each of them.

The Republican Senate majority, however, rejected that plan. Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, Republican floor leader, said that the GOP senators felt the people of the state didn't want "two broad based taxes, a sales tax and an income tax—at this time."

However, Readinger said he felt that Senate Republicans might alter their stand on the 50-50 plan.

Might "Give"

"I think they might give a little," Readinger told reporters. "They might revise their thinking some."

New Missile Production To Be High

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (P)—The Army will begin getting quantities of its Redstone missile—a 300-mile range, faster-than-sound, atomic-armed weapon—during the year starting July 1.

A 300-million-dollar fund for Army missile procurement in the 1957 fiscal year budget includes money for production of the Redstone missile on which development started at least three years ago, it was learned tonight.

D. WERNER von Braun, German rocket expert, is shown in Washington with a scale model of the super-secret Redstone guided-missile. He headed the group of scientists and engineers that developed the new weapon. The Defense Department described it as the largest United States ballistic missile to have reached the test-firing stage. It would be used as the basis for developing the intermediate range ballistic missile, with a 1,500-mile range.

However, it is likely that the quantities provided for will be used for still further extensive testing and training purposes. This indicates that Army combat units probably will not start receiving the missiles before next year.

Full-Scale Tests

Full-scale test firings of the Redstone are conducted at the long-range missile proving ground at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., operated by the Air Force for development and test work by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the Army's chief of staff, recently saw one of the experimental Redstone missiles fired. He told newsmen that it was "tremendously impressive."

The Army has set aside a part of its Huntsville, Ala., ordnance plant for missile development and assigned Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, veteran in Army missile work, to direct the Redstone project.

The Redstone is essentially a ballistic missile. It is aimed like an artillery shell and fired in a high arc which carries it up to a hundred miles in the air before it plunges down at the target.

Legislators Asked To Take Prompt Action

STROUD Union Parent-Teachers Association has filed a letter of formal protest with district legislators over "delay" in setting up some form of broad-based tax to finance State appropriations to schools.

The letter has been sent to Rep. Van D. Yetter, D-Monroe County and Sen. William Z. Scott, Republican from Lansford who represents Monroe, Pike, Wayne and Carbon counties in the Senate.

Robert B. Haigh, president of the union district PTA, said that the letter should indicate "that quite a large group of the citizens in this area are not interested at this time in which political party is the stronger, but they most certainly are interested in keeping our schools and hospitals open."

Precarious Situation

The text of the letter reads: "As the new legislative year begins, we of the Secondary Section of the Stroud Union Parent-Teachers Association express our unanimous support of your levying a broad-based tax (by whomsoever sponsored) upon us and the other citizens of the commonwealth."

"We have become increasingly apprehensive as the months of 1955 wore on. A sound tax program is essential to the health and education of your constituents, yet taxes seem to have become a mere symbol of political supremacy."

"If you, too, have deplored the legislature's delay, as we hope you have, let this evidence of our interest—encourage you to take prompt action. You must relieve the precarious condition of our hospitals and schools."

No Dessert

A resolution calling for the protest letter against legislative delay was passed without dissenting vote at the Jan. 16 meeting of the PTA group. It is the first such action by a local community group.

The tax situation has been complicated in Harrisburg several months. Efforts to introduce and pass a tax bill to provide State funds for subsidies to schools have been defeated, largely on party line voting.

Without State aid school districts in Monroe now face the prospect of operating on a borrowed economy. But the districts can go just so far with borrowing and no further.

Districts are allowed to borrow only two per cent of their assessed valuation by law. One district—Coolbaugh Township—has already reached the legal limit.

Coolbaugh's teachers and bus drivers voted last week to go on working even though State aid did not arrive. They were the first group to make such an offer.

No Emergency Relief

State officials gave no positive indication up to last night of when appropriation payments might be mailed out to individual districts. Gov. Leader had originally estimated that emergency funds could be used during the last week in January and the first of February to make such payments.

This estimate was later revised by State Department of Public Instruction officials who indicated payments to some smaller, rural districts might be made during mid-February.

Unless the State sticks to this date—at the very latest—nearly all county districts will be operating on borrowed funds. Stroud Union School District, whose high school PTA members filed the protest with Yetter and Scott, has already been forced to borrow some $80,000.

Appropriations paid by the State to districts are based on the number of "teaching units" in schools operated by the township or borough. Other State payments include subsidies for transportation costs, tuition and special services such as vocational agriculture and homemaking.

Limit Asked On Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (P)—Chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), a senior committee Republican, both said today they are against voting foreign aid for more than one year at a time.

The statements by Richards and Vorys in separate interviews indicated the administration has made little headway, despite intensive efforts, in its campaign to persuade key legislators to enact long-term foreign aid authority.

George Huddle

President Eisenhower will renew these efforts personally tomorrow at a White House huddle with Sen. George of Georgia, the Democratic leader in congressional foreign policy matters.

Secretary of State Dulles has tried his hand at persuading George to line up with the administration and failed to move him. Dulles also tried unsuccessfully to enlist the support of Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader. Both George and Knowland have opposed the administration plan.

A possible compromise—which Dulles the 10-year future commitment power they are reported to want—has been suggested by Richards.

Richards said Congress should write into the next foreign aid bill a "general statement" of intent that foreign aid, both military and economic, will continue for as many years as needed to fight the menace of international communism.

Democrat Proposal

A somewhat similar proposal, embodying a five-year limit, was advanced in a statement by 17 House Democrats who said:

"We believe a statement of the intent of the American people, speaking through their elected representatives, that we are in this fight to win would assist in offsetting the gains the Soviets are attempting to achieve in those areas striving for economic and political advancement."

The Democrats said they believed this country's foreign friends would take renewed confidence in their struggle against Communist encroachment "if they have tangible evidence that the United States is prepared to assist them as long as such assistance is necessary."

Sen. Bridges Fears GOP Split Over Move To Promote State Department Aide Bowie

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (P)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today he fears controversy over one of President Eisenhower's State Department appointments may split Republicans while the administration's foreign policies are under sharp Democratic attack.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, indicated he expects fireworks when the Senate takes up the nomination of Robert R. Bowie of Massachusetts to be an assistant secretary of state.

"I have tried to do everything I can to keep party unity but I am afraid the administration's insistence on pushing this nomination is going to split the Republicans," Bridges said in an interview.

Oppose Promotion

Bridges and Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, have made it clear they are opposed to promoting Bowie, who has headed the State Department's Policy Planning Committee. In that position Bowie serves as one of Secretary Dulles' advisers.

While Bridges and Knowland have not given any public reason for their opposition, it is reported to be based on Bowie's reputed stand that the United States must face up to the issue of the likely admission of Red China to the United Nations.

This is an issue full of explosive potentialities and most administration officials apparently would like to see it soft-pedaled in an election year.

Knowland, who is expected to become a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination if Eisenhower doesn't run, has been vigorously opposed to any move that might open the U.N. door to the Chinese Communists.

Bombay Quiet After 400 Lose Lives

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 22 (P)—The violence in Bombay over language frontiers apparently burned itself out today after six days of riots in which the death toll, counted by police at 56, may run to 300 or 400.

But inflamed emotions were still flying and could spark renewal of the disturbances here and elsewhere at any moment.

Comparatively small flareups occurred today in Cuttack, capital of Orissa State, on the East Coast where police charged mobs with tear gas and clubs and three times opened fire. No casualty figures were available there.

Demonstrations

In Madras, to the south, there were demonstrations against exclusion of certain Tamil-speaking areas of Travancore from Madras State. But these were confined to small sections near the Madras State Ministry and Indian government offices. American evangelist Billy Graham, who is visiting the city, went ahead with plans for scheduled meetings with Christian workers, students and pastors tomorrow.

In New Delhi, Tara Singh, fiery, bearded leader of the Sikh Akali party, met with Prime Minister Nehru and other government ministers on Sikh demands for formation of a Punjab Subha, a state where the dagger-wielding Sikhs would have virtual equality with Hindus. Sikhs in the Punjab have been threatening riots as serious as those in Bombay if their demands are not met.

Abbott Jury Still Out

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 22 (P)—The Burton Abbott murder trial jury indicated late today, fourth day of deliberations, that no verdict was in prospect tonight.

Still resolving doubts surrounding the unwitting kidnapping-murder of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan, the jurors in mid-afternoon asked and were granted permission of the trial judge to remain closeted "without a break" until 8 p. m., then to be taken to their hotel for dinner and retirement for the night.

More Members Of Congress To Leave For Private Businesses

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (P)—Despite recent hefty boosts in salary, indications now are that more members will leave Congress voluntarily this year than ever before.

Already, 13 representatives and one senator have announced plans to quit, either to seek other office, or to return to private business. One House member resigned last year.

Never before, in the memory of veteran congressional observers, have so many members announced retirement intentions so early in a session.

Five Chairmen

Five of those quitting have been chairmen of House committees. Five are in a position to receive sizable pensions if they qualify under the congressional annuity law. Pension records are not made public, but most senators and representatives are in the pension plan and contribute 6 per cent of their pay toward annuities payable at age 62.

For pension purposes, the average annual pay of members retiring at the end of this year has been about $13,500. Congressional pay was $10,000 when the pension system started 10 years ago. It has risen since to $22,500.

Members retiring this year who have reached age 62, have at least 30 years' service, and have made themselves eligible for full benefits would receive an estimated $10,200 annual pension. Except in unusual cases, no ex-member may draw a pension before reaching 62, and then he must have served at least six years in Congress.

The lone senator who has announced retirement plans is Alan Bible, Nevada Democrat completing his second year in office. Bible, 67, plans to return to Reno and practice law.

Others who have disclosed retirement plans include: Karl King (R-Pa.), 59, with six years of service, retiring to operate his Pennsylvania farm.

Bernard W. (Pat) Kearney (R-NY), 67, retiring after 14 years. Sidney A. Fine (D-NY), 52, resigned in the middle of his third House term last year to become a judge in New York.

French Assembly Showdown

PARIS, Jan. 22 (P)—The showdown hours arrive this week for the new French National Assembly when it will decide whether it will create a government good for the East, good for the West, or good for nothing.

About midweek the Assembly, which met last Thursday for the first time, should be well enough organized for President Rene Coty to call in one of the party leaders and ask him to form a Cabinet. Highest on the list of probabilities is Guy Mollet, head of the Socialist party which is allied with the dynamic Pierre Mendes-France and his Radical Socialist party. Together they have about 150 votes, by no means a majority. But at the moment it is the most cohesive group other than the Communists.

Rely On Reds?

Comes then the big question. Will the Mollet and Mendes - France combination rely on the 151 Communist votes to win confirmation? Or will it be able to attract votes from right-of-center parties, some of whose members may be willing to give the new combination a chance?

These two leaders, among the youngest in French politics, insist their program must be accepted on a "take it or leave it" basis. To invite into their Cabinet more voices from the right, they insist, would create another of the many do - nothing cabinets that have plagued France since the war.

Injured Still Undetermined By Officials

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22 (P)—A two-car Santa Fe diesel train en route to San Diego was wrecked tonight, and a deputy coroner estimated tentatively that 47 persons were killed and 35 to 100 injured.

Fourteen bodies were laid in a roped-off area near the track. Deputy Coroner Charles J. Woodward said the others were still in or under the train.

Police first said the first ambulance to reach the scene reported about 88 persons dead, but officers said later a more accurate estimate was 88 "casualties."

The crowded train had left for San Diego, 125 miles to the south, a few minutes earlier at 5:00 p.m. and was on the southeastern outskirts of Los Angeles, near Washington Blvd. and Soto St., about four miles from the station when the accident occurred.

Survivors said it had been rounding a curve when it turned over on its right side and sprawled across the right-of-way. Observers at the scene said some occupants had been tumbled out of the windows and ground under the train as it scraped on its side for a distance estimated by one at perhaps 100 yards.

All city ambulances and available private ambulances were dispatched to the site. Clergymen of all faiths were summoned through broadcasts. Hundreds of onlookers quickly jammed the area.

In less than half an hour 36 ambulances were parked bumper-to-bumper near the crash.

Conductor G. P. Spickard said the "train suddenly tipped over . . . that's all I know." He said he was in the rear car of the two-unit train.

Engineers Frank B. Parrish, 61, San Bernardino, Calif., said he slowed the train after passing a 35 m.p.h. marker post.

The engineer said he apparently blacked out because the next thing he knew the train was tipping over. Parrish said he has been with the railroad 37 years. He said he began slowing down at the 35-mile marker because there is a sharp curve a short distance beyond.

R. E. Rowland, Santa Fe Trainmaster here told a reporter at the scene that his guess as to the number of dead would be "probably more than a dozen, perhaps more than a score."

The number of injured was still indefinite.

Rowland said there were perhaps 120 to 150 persons on the two-car train and that it was packed. They included some military personnel returning to San Diego Marine and Navy bases, but most were civilians, he said.

A Navy apprentice seaman, George Reeves, 21, of 4733 Constance Dr., San Diego, said: "I was reading a magazine. We were on our way back to San Diego. The car veered once and the luggage across the way above the seat fell off and hit me."

"The lights went out and we began rolling. It seemed to me like we were rolling down a ravine, but when I got out I discovered we had only landed on the side of the track."

Another Navy man, Gary Stills, of nearby Glendale, said "there was a lot of panic among the civilians" but none among the military personnel. There were mostly civilians on his car.

Police issued calls for all available doctors to report to the scene and for clergymen of every faith to go there.

The accident occurred on the southeastern outskirts of the city although within the city limits. It was four miles from the Union Station, which the train had left shortly before for San Diego.

40 Killed In Tunisia

TUNIS, Tunisia, Jan. 22 (P)—Forty persons were killed Saturday in a night of violence that spread across both sides of the Tunisian-Algerian border. Nine others were reported wounded.

The violence included military clashes, political assassinations and kidnappings. The latest casualties brought to nearly 200 the number of persons killed, most of them nationalist rebels, in tense French North Africa in the last 10 days.

German Unity Drive Urged On U.S., Great Britain

By BRACK CURRY
BONN, Germany, Jan. 22 (P)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is urging President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Eden to launch a new drive for German unity during their conference in Washington next week.

Diplomatic officials said today German Ambassador Heinz Krekler will meet with State Department officials this week to present Adenauer's request. Hans von Herwarth, German ambassador in London, conveyed the Chancellor's view to British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd yesterday.

Officials here said the 80-year-old German leader wants to insure that:

1. The German question is not pushed into the background in the Washington meeting by Middle East and Far Eastern questions.
2. President Eisenhower and Sir

Anthony consider new moves to win Soviet Russia's assent to unify this divided nation.

3. Bonn's leaders are kept fully informed of any German discussions during the conference.

German authorities say Adenauer's view is that the Western Powers and the Bonn Republic must maintain pressure on Moscow on the German question or risk a serious loss of prestige among Germans on both sides of the Iron Curtain, they said.

Strong political elements in West Germany even now are urging direct German-Russian negotiations to break the East-West deadlock on unification. Adenauer has sternly resisted this trend, arguing Germans would forfeit Western confidence by undertaking private talks with the Russians on an issue that can be settled only through Big Four agreement.

Disarmament Ghost Comes Out To U.N.

By A. I. GOLDBERG
Associated Press U.N. Staff Writer

THE disarmament ghost comes out of its U. N. mausoleum for a short time again Monday.

Arms reduction hopes inherited from the old League of Nations and reborn with the development of nuclear weapons have made little tangible progress in the U. N.'s 10 years.

But the U. N. keeps talking about disarmament plans with a despairing hope for an agreed program to abolish war and allow taxes to be used for purposes other than building war machines. In that mixed feeling of hope and despair the Disarmament Commission—which includes the Security Council members plus Canada—meets here again.

Brief Session

Today's session, under the gavel of U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., was expected to be brief, just long enough to authorize the Russians and the West to make another try for agreement behind closed doors in London beginning next month.

The big-power subcommittee sessions—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada—were held at the urging of the last General Assembly where all the members took part in the annual wish-framing and talked of the horrors of nuclear warfare if something isn't done.

The most tangible development in years of U. N. debate has been the realization that until the big powers agree on what to ban—and when, and how suspicious countries can check on each other, that anything debated by 12 countries or 76 in the U. N., or more in a world conference, would remain only wishful thinking.

Its Priority

Hence the smaller subcommittee. Lodge wants the subcommittee to follow the General Assembly majority view that priority should be given President Eisenhower's preliminary disarmament plan to avert surprise attack. Under it the United States and Russia would allow each other's planes to fly over their countries for spot checks on military buildup. Included in that priority would be Soviet Premier Bulganin's idea of ground inspection teams in each other's country.

But the subcommittee at its next meeting in London—No. 69, by the way, since the group was set up April 19, 1954—will operate in an atmosphere that has deteriorated since the Assembly resolution was adopted a month ago.

Soviet bloc opposition to the Eisenhower plan smashed the Russian show of unanimity the year before. The summit meeting spirit was dissipated. East Germany's police force was proclaimed an army—another army now to be figured in any reduction program. France was struggling to form a government so it could speak with some authority in the talks.

Affecting Reactions

There were the revelations of how many countries, including subcommittee powers, figured in Middle East arms deals. Russia had its biggest nuclear explosion. The United States announced a new series of nuclear tests. The British said they will go on with H-bomb tests. The Soviet budget with hidden military costs suspected in it was published. The U. S. budget was published and was greeted by demands for greater defense spending.

These are some of the gloomier developments. Ahead is the certain Russian demand to seat Red China in the talks as a world power and its gambit in making the West deal on the question of an East German army.

YMCA Campaigners Due To Make Semi-Final Reports In Membership Tonight

ALL 1956 YMCA membership campaign workers are reminded to make report to their respective captains and the captains to their division leaders as early as possible tonight.

Workers who have been contacted since the Jan. 16 meeting tell of satisfactory results and many additional members secured. There were 453 new members reported at the last meeting, within 47 of the campaign goal. Leaders figure final figures will go over the top.

Workers are urged in the meantime to put through all their prospective contacts to register all new members possible.

Spectacles Spotted News Last Week

By Joe Miller

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Story spectacles spotted the news last week.

There was the case of the elderly Pittsburgh couple who complained they were having trouble lately with their glasses and wanted another eye examination. Their optician checked his files, came up with this deduction: They had somehow exchanged glasses.

Steal Ben's "Specs"

In Miami, Fla., somebody stole a pair of Benjamin Franklin's spectacles from a home where it had been a treasured heirloom for years. The glasses were believed to have been worn by Franklin shortly before his death.

The 250th birthday of old Ben, incidentally, was observed with no more acclaim anywhere than in Russia. The Moscow radio broadcast an admiring lecture on his life and work. A "gala soiree devoted to Franklin" was a Moscow University project. And just when you'd expect them to tell him to go fly his kite.

Oklahoma City police did tell that to a 40-year-old lonely heart. He had called women who had placed work-wanted ads in the paper and offered them jobs. He had no job in mind, however. He just wanted to get acquainted. When one girl complained to police, he was arrested, reprimanded and let go.

Credited With Kill

Another wolf, timber variety, leaped up and knocked down a low-flying plane. In Minnesota, too, not Texas. The small plane was demolished. The defunct animal was credited with a kill by the plane's two Tower, Minn. passengers, both Air Force veterans, who escaped unhurt.

Poujade To Fight Charge

PARIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Tax-rebel Pierre Poujade will appeal the decision of a French court which fined him 500,000 francs—$1,400—yesterday for slander during the election campaign.

Poujade's decision was announced today by the press office of his Union for the Defense of Shopkeepers and Artisans. The court yesterday said Poujade's campaign accusations against former Assembly Speaker Pierre Schneider, a member of the Popular Republican Movement, were "incontestably defamatory." Poujade had accused Schneider of having "blood on his hands."

Scientific Evidence Has Kidnap-Murder Jury In Four Days Of Confusion

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—The Burton Abbott jury tried again today, for the fourth day, to make up its mind whether science and circumstances point to the university student as the only one who could have kidnaped and murdered 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan.

The length of the deliberations was no surprise in view of the strange nature of the case.

No one saw the pretty, dark-haired schoolgirl abducted last April 28 on her way home from school in Berkeley. Her disappearance was a mystery until her beaten body was found 84 days later 250 miles north of Berkeley in wild mountain country near Abbott's fishing cabin.

Scientific Burden

The burden of prosecution proof has been scientific—that hair and cloth fibers found in Abbott's car matched Stephanie's head and clothes; that clay taken from a nine-inch depth in her grave matched clay on Abbott's boots.

The prosecution has said the gas chamber is the only acceptable penalty, but the trial judge gave the jury three additional options—life imprisonment, lesser imprisonment, or acquittal.

The judge has indicated that he would let the jurors deliberate at least through Monday.

Farmers Earn While Learning

Invited To Canada

TORONTO, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Congress of Canadian Women has invited a group of Russian women—housewives, industrial and professional workers—to visit cities and farms across Canada. CCW's president, Mrs. Rae Luckcock, said they will arrive in early May.

Taxpayers Asked To Send Returns To Right Office

TAXPAYERS were requested by F. P. Graham, Scranton District director of Internal Revenue, to exercise care in mailing their Federal income tax returns to the proper district director's office.

Mr. Graham stated that all district directors' offices each year receive many returns which should have been mailed to other districts. Such returns must be forwarded by the receiving office with letters of explanation to the proper filing district. This adds to the workload of both districts during the busy filing period. It is often the cause for unnecessary delay in making refunds to taxpayers.

Mr. Graham further stated that the Scranton District covers 29 counties of Northeastern Pennsylvania, including Monroe, Pike and Wayne.

Governor Names Committee On Flood Control-Insurances

Engineers, Insurance Men Called

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22 (AP)—A 14-man state committee will study flood control and flood insurance for recommendations to the State Legislature and Congress.

Gov. Leader yesterday named the group, composed of engineers, representatives of the insurance industry and civic leaders from stricken areas.

"Federal and state governments, working in co-operation with the insurance industry, can and must find some adequate and lasting solution to flood damage problems," the governor said in a statement.

Assume Leadership
Leader named Bradford Smith Jr., vice president of the Insurance Co. of North America, as chairman of the group.

Pennsylvania, the governor contended, should "assume the leadership" in a move to solve the flood problem since the state suffered great losses in lives and property during last August's flood.

Committee members are: Charles H. Dockman, Pittsburgh insurance firm manager; Sen. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny); Hamilton H. Gilkison, Coatesville insurance executive; Dr. Paul B. Gruber, assistant school superintendent in Bucks County; and these ex officio members: Adj. Gen. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr.; Maurice K. Goddard, forest and waters secretary; and Francis R. Smith, state insurance commissioner.

Former Erie Mayor Finds Mate In Jail

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—The former mayor of Erie, paroled last month from the Allegheny County Workhouse, today was honeymooning with his bride, the supervisor of women at the institution.

Thomas W. Flatley, 67, and the former Mrs. Luella K. Dougherty were married last Thursday in Blawnox, near Pittsburgh, where the workhouse is located. They were reported en route to California.

Flatley was sentenced to 1½ to 3 years last January after he pleaded guilty to conspiracy and violation of his oath in a gambling scandal.

Faces Murder Charge In Double Killing

MASSILON, Ohio, Jan. 22 (AP)—Charged with shooting down his estranged wife and her physician, steno-worker Nick Kostic will be arraigned tomorrow on a first degree murder charge.

Detectives said his attractive, red-haired wife, Mary, 35, was killed yesterday afternoon by a single slug in the abdomen, and fell in the hallway of her apartment.

Physician 72
Dr. H. P. Hart, 72, a general practitioner, died of two shots in his shoulder and chest. His body was found at the foot of a narrow stairway leading to the apartment. Police said Kostic apparently fired from a stairway landing.

Detective Robert Dennison said Kostic, 37, admitted the killings shortly after his capture last night in a telephone booth at a bar.

Aldrich will sail Wednesday with Eden and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd for the Washington meeting.

McCormack Says Congress Averted War

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.) said today at a meeting in Secretary of State Dulles' office in April 1954.

McCormack, the House Democratic leader, said legislators of both parties advised a slowdown at a meeting in Secretary of State Dulles' office in April 1954.

Air Attack
He said in a television interview there was talk at that gathering of "a mass air attack upon Communists who were besieging Dien Bien Phu."

Elaborating later to a reporter, McCormack said the congressional leaders advised Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to get together first with Great Britain and France.

Radford, he said, favored intervention in Indochina at the time Communist forces were storming the French fortress at Dien Bien Phu, which finally fell.

McCormack added that Radford conceded under questioning at the meeting that other members of the Joint Chiefs "did not agree with him."

He recalled that President Eisenhower had declared previously the administration would not embroil the United States in war without going to Congress in advance.

Leaders' Position
At the meeting in Dulles' office, McCormack said, the "substance" of the congressional leaders' position about a prior agreement with England and France was this:

"Before you come to Congress, you had better come up with a full package, signed and sealed—and no token assistance."

Both McCormack and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) heaped new criticism on Dulles for "brink of war" statements attributed to the secretary in a Life magazine article.

Dulles said the United States was brought to the verge of war three times, but avoided going over as a result of firm policies. One of the "brink" Dulles cited was Indochina.

Citizens Form Westinghouse Strike Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Formation of a "National Citizens Committee urging quick settlement of the long Westinghouse strike, by arbitration if necessary, was announced today.

John M. Carmody, a Washington consultant who organized the group, said its existence may be "helpful in bringing public attention to the need for prompt settlement."

Carmody, whose government posts included membership on the National Labor Relations Board and the National Mediation Board, said committee members "have no prejudice and are not taking sides or passing judgment on the merits" of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. dispute. But he declared in a statement:

Public Interest
"While we believed that free collective bargaining is the best method of resolving labor disputes, we think that the time has come in this dispute for recognition of the paramount public interest."

"We believe that arbitration or fact-finding should be voluntarily resorted to by the company and the union."

Creation of the committee was announced as the strike idling 55,000 Westinghouse employees at 40 plants entered its 15th week.

Westinghouse has refused a Federal Mediation Service proposal that the wage disagreement be submitted to a fact-finding group. The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), which represents 44,000 of the strikers, has turned down a company suggestion that the workers vote secretly on a five-year contract offer.

In Pittsburgh, negotiators met again today to try to hammer out an agreement to end the strike.

Mediator
Meeting with representatives of the company and the IUE was Federal Mediator John R. Murray.

The session was another in a series of daily meetings that began last week when full-scale negotiations resumed in efforts to end the strike by 44,000 IUE members at 30 plants.

The company, union and Murray have declined to comment to newsmen on whether there has been any progress.

But the union—in a bulletin to local union officials at Sharon, Pa.—said there has been some progress but negotiators are "still far from a basis for settlement."

The citizens committee disclosed no concrete program, but Carmody said "the public interest demands that competent impartial third parties be permitted to examine the merits of the arguments on both sides."

17 Members
He listed 17 members of the committee, including Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Among the others are Arthur Altmeyer, Madison, Wis., former chairman of the Social Security Board; Thomas Buchanan, Pittsburgh, former head of the Federal Power Commission; Edward Macauley, San Francisco, retired Navy officer who is a former member of the U. S. Maritime Commission and deputy administrator of the War Shipping Board; Raymond S. McKeough, Chicago, former congressman from Illinois and member of the U. S. Maritime Commission; Henry Parkman, Boston, once lieutenant governor of Massachusetts; and James G. Patton, Denver, president of the National Farmers Union.

Chinese Blast Red Island
TAIPEI, Formosa, Monday, Jan. 23 (AP)—Chinese Nationalist warships yesterday blasted a Red Island in Formosa Strait and left big fires blazing, a navy headquarters communique said today.

Battle Over State Taxes Moves To House Today With Both Sides Still Bickering

GOP floor leader, predicted outright defeat of the sales tax bill at the 3 per cent rate.

The Senate defeat last week of a 3 per cent sales tax, meantime, figured in weekend statements by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican president pro tempore of the Senate, and Sen. John H. Dent, the Democratic floor leader.

The vote was along strict party lines, 23 Republicans for it and 18 Democrats against it, with 26 votes needed to pass. Three GOP senators were absent because of illness.

Taylor blamed defeat of the bill on the Democrats. He recalled that Gov. Leader asked the GOP to come up with its own tax program since Senate Republicans defeated two other administration plans for a classified income tax and a manufacturers excise tax.

Dent attacked the GOP sales tax measure defeated in the Senate.

"Every possible exemption to many phases of business, industry or corporations was given and the entire load of taxation rested upon the shoulders of the people."

Next Step
Both Smith and Readinger were asked what the next step toward solution of the tax problem might be if the Hewitt bill is defeated.

Readinger—"In addition to the other sales tax bills we have in committee there is the personal net income tax now on the calendar in position for a final vote. We still haven't given up entirely on that idea. I'm not sure whether the next move will be toward an income or sales tax."

Smith—"We probably will try to amend one of the Republican sales tax bills already in committee and then go to work for it if we can amend it to our liking. We're willing to take the responsibility for raising half the needed money and whatever the Democrats do for the rest is up to them."

She is Mildred Capron. She's been "shooting movies of the world" since she was 10 years old. That was the year she was given a motion picture camera. She's been working with one ever since.

At tonight's Dutch Treat meeting, Miss Capron will present her all-color film, "Deep Roots In the

The recommendation will be submitted to the meeting of the General Council in April.

The General Council, meeting every four years and representing 40 different countries, is the supreme law and policy-making body. It usually accepts the recommendations of its administrative bodies. The council will meet for two weeks in Minneapolis starting April 25.

Boy Kills His Father
FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—Police said an 11-year-old boy killed his father with a shotgun during an argument in their home last night.

Police Chief Raymond J. Brown said Raymond W. Denny Jr. instantly killed his 39-year-old father with a blast in the back from a 20-gauge shotgun.

Argument
Brown said the shooting occurred after Denny and his wife had returned home late from a tavern and began to argue.

After the shooting, the chief said, Raymond Jr. dashed out of the house without putting on shoes, a coat or hat and ran barefooted through a three-inch layer of snow to the police station a half mile away.

Raymond Jr. was placed in protective custody at Franklin Hospital where he is reported suffering from shock.

Truth Interesting
Whether she has trained her lenses on Wyoming, South Africa, or, more recently, the Chesapeake Bay region, Miss Capron has tried to let audiences see what they could see if they visited the area in person. "I believe that truth is much more interesting than fiction. I try to find the most fascinating essentials of the business of living and to present them with real enthusiasm," she has said.

"I don't start out with a cut-and-dried shooting script. Months of research and study prior to camera work give me a fairly good knowledge of what to expect and what will make interesting film sequences," she says.

Tonight's meeting begins at 6:30 with dinner.

A THREAT TO YOUR PET!

Senate Bill 231 amends the Dog Law of 1921 to require that every dog running at large be impounded and offered to research laboratories for experimental use. This Bill has been brought before the Senate for action.

This legislation will impose a substantial expense upon the taxpayers to provide additional pound facilities, just for the benefit of commercial and institutional laboratories. How will this cost be financed when our budget and tax problems are so great?

HUMANE SOCIETIES BELIEVE that animals in the care of shelters and pounds should be disposed of in only one of three ways: (a) returned to owner, (b) placed in a new home, (c) humanely destroyed. Dog control measures and public confidence would be destroyed by a change in this principle.

Participation In Local Finance Of Airport Improvements Must Broaden

Should there be "favorable consideration" for a Federal allocation to Pocono Mountains Airport improvement, this region faces the immediate and vital task of providing its share of funds required for an approximate $300,000 project.

The region has nearly everything in the way of transportation but airline passenger, mail, freight and express service.

No community can progress as it should without that type of service.

The record of air travel for the past year in the United States and cross-ocean flights is phenomenal. Airlines are reporting that travel jumped 36 per cent, an increase which exceeds railroad and steamship lines.

The Pocono Mountains area has good roads, an outstanding railroad line and plans are either under prosecution or under actual construction for super-highway connections—including Northeastern Turnpike Extension and its nearby interchanges and the Stroudsburgs Thru-Way.

But, if the Poconos and the Stroudsburgs are to keep pace with the rest of the world, Pocono Mountains Airport must be improved by extension of runways, lighting, drainage and other work which will permit major airlines to land.

These lines have maintained a standing interest in making scheduled service stops at Pocono Mountains Airport for many years. They've been balked by federal rules which set up minimum requirements for length of runways as safety-load factors.

Any allocation given the airport must be matched 50-50 by the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and local municipal action.

A number of townships and one borough are now paying into the authority fund to meet such a contingency.

Participation in this fund must be broadened—as high as the county level—because the benefits of major airline travel will reach that high.

Past performance has proven that established airline service in a given community has raised the total value of that community right down to individual property values.

And that's understandable for air travel, mail, freight and express service is the world's swiftest, safest and one of the most economical.

Y Membership Campaign Should Go Over Top By January 30 Deadline

The YMCA membership campaign, just 47 short of its goal of 500, should be topped with tonight's report meeting and a final return by all campaign workers on January 30.

There was never any doubt on the part of this newspaper that the Y membership campaign would fall short of its 500 new adult and sustaining memberships. In fact we felt the goal was very modest.

The principles of the Y and its proven value throughout communities world-wide assure success of the membership campaign. Added assurance of success is found in the modern, well equipped operating plant where the principles are applied to turn out one of the most important "products" to the nation—a clean, healthy, spiritually equipped youth.

George Sokolsky Says...

Democracy Has Turned Out To Be Terrific Struggle To Discover Whols The Big Shot

They tell me that when one has had a coronary, one should rest body and mind and everything. That may be a good rule, but an impossible one because a man is not a vegetable and the mind does work. Even if nothing has registered in the mind, if there are no little tabs that poke out to jog the memory, the mind nevertheless does work on.

It can, of course, be deadened by narcotics, but the mind and memory of man will find a way through the most deadening poisons to express a thought, or what one imagines is a thought. For that is the difference between a man and a vegetable: Man must think, even the least and dumbest of men must think. It is possible to so narcotize the mind that one is groggy nearly all the time and it is now possible to brain-wash the mind, so that everything is taken out of it and something new put in it. I wonder! I lie here and wonder how much has really been washed out of the mind of Cardinal Mindszenty. It would be important to know.

It is an experience to lie here, not too far removed from death itself. It is all right now, I am told. The worst may be over. They are very cagey, these doctors. They do not say that the worst is over; it may be over. They cannot tell. Naturally no one can tell, and does it really matter. Carlyle, whom I am trying to read in this heavily sedated atmosphere, says this in his Essay on Burns:

"For will not our own age, one day, be an ancient one; and have as quaint a costume as the rest;..."

There is so much humility in this wisdom, and if the fault of our period is to be discovered, it will be that humility has flown from us as a thing unwanted. What we call democracy has turned out to be a terrific struggle, among sometimes the least worthy, to discover who is the big shot. Men project themselves for high office who, were they at all affected by their consciences, would, in humility, regard even the mention of their names in such a connection as a disgrace. When one comes close to death, the exaggerations of self seem too silly. So, everybody knows you. So, everybody recognizes you. So, when you go into a restaurant, you get a table. You might even get credit in a bank. But what of credit with God?

That awful moment when it is a sort of yes or no, what is the answer? And how helpless can you be—utterly, completely helpless. And the strange men come and put you on a stretcher and you are captive. From then on, you are captive. What you eat, what you do, even when you wash yourself, is decided by someone else. You ask for something you like and it exceeds the calories allowed. You are a machine out of order, being repaired because you did not altogether collapse. And will the repair last and only give a respite? Naturally, when I ask questions about myself, I am also asking about Ike and this I can say with a sense of thorough truthfulness: such matters as life and death, as strong heart or weak heart, as coronaries that blow like fuses are in the hands of God. The research on the heart has gone quite a distance and that that is so, I can attest by the lines which I pen in a hospital bed in longhand, although I may not move unaided. I can do this little each day as Ike can paint each day. But no man, no doctor knows for sure why these things happen and if happening once, they will ever occur again. To make a fetish of a coronary is like refusing to use an automobile because a tire has had a blow-out. There may never be another blow-out. Also, one might get better tires—that is live a less irritating life.

Politics in our age must be irritating because it is not pretty. The men are small. The ways are vulgar. Honor, respect, propriety seem to have disappeared. But there have been other eras like this and they are corrected as men regain humility and turn again to God and God's law. So we must walk through the mud until we reach the hard gravel that leads up the mountain—to its top where the light is clear and small things are small and greatness is great.

dreaming of summer, and the boat show helps him dream in Three-D. He arrives early and stays late, departing with an incredible load of brochures and pamphlets; he crawls over boats he doesn't want and explores those too closely for him; the fact he is in the market only for a $250 towboat doesn't deter him from inspecting every inch of a $10,000 ocean-going yacht. He revels in an inspection of shipbuilders' hemp lines, compasses, ship stoves, pennants, yachting hats, nonbreakable cocktail shakers and all types of motors from 1,000 horsepower deisels to three-horse outboards.

To the boatshow addict there is no such thing as a little interest. He is so enthused that a fever chart is compulsory equipment as he leaps from boat to boat. Once the "little fellow" felt somewhat out of place and made way for the Morgans and Vanderbilts, but today it is the big boys who get shoved around by the little folks. Small boats dominate the show and it is the huge yacht that seems to have "opened by mistake." Yesterday a practical joker put a sign in front of an exhibit of costly cruisers, "No Exchanges." A wiretapper got a two-to-four-year prison term the other day, with a stiff exhortation by the judge, who, we think, should have asked, "Are you listening?" Is there anything American show biz folks won't do for a price? We were invited by engraved card to the unveiling of a new toothpaste in a swanky hotel recently, but bowed out because it didn't say "white tie." Too bad. Some of our best friends are toothpaste users. All those ambulances

Communist Party Chump If It Attempts To Sway News

Senators James O. Eastland and William E. Jenner of the Internal Security subcommittee may or may not produce sufficient evidence to support their recent claim to having uncovered a "significant effort" by the Communist Party "to penetrate leading American newspapers."

I hope they'll produce all the evidence there is to produce. But even if they show that Communist termites have wormed their way into some American newspapers—which it would be foolish to dismiss as incredible—it won't necessarily be cause for alarm.

This is not merely because Senator Jenner is justifiably confident that "the American press will prove fully competent to deal with the problem in its own American way."

More importantly, it is because proof that Communist leaders have put on serious emphasis on the American press would reveal them to be considerably more stupid than they are currently rated. It would show that they don't know straight up about the nature of the American press or the manner in which it acquires and exercises its influence. And still less about the temperament of American newspaper readers.

From the viewpoint of subversives seeking the most effective ways of fouling the works in this country it makes good sense to try to worm agents into key government positions where they might gain access to secret military information—or into places where they might cripple transportation or telephone communications over large areas—or into control centers where they might poison the water supplies of great cities. These are ways in which one skunk, working single-handed, could cause a vast amount of damage.

But it would make no sense to try to subvert American public opinion by sneaking a few disloyal printers or reporters or copywriters onto the payrolls of "leading American newspapers."

That's not the type of job that can be done by swiping blueprints or furtively turning a spigot or slashing a wire or tossing a monkey-wrench.

Even in its narrowest sense, the so-called "press" in this country consists of almost 1800 daily newspapers—no two of them exactly alike. Each requires the close daily teamwork of too many individuals to permit subversive fingers to get by long unspotted.

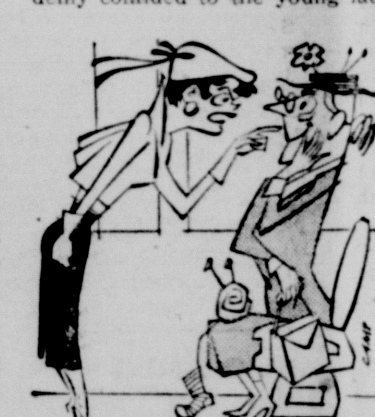

And each of them knows from long experience that American public opinion cannot be swayed by dropping a comma here and inserting a smear-word there. Many a "leading" American newspaper has concentrated the combined efforts of scores of skillful employees for months on end on an attempt to persuade its readers to accept its point of view on a given issue—without getting to first base.

If the Communist party imagines a few planked copy twisters can get more dramatic results surreptitiously, the Communist party is a chump. And I, for one, would be relieved to think chumps are all we have to outwit.

Try and Stop Me

Here's a story that highlights the special quality that makes the English different from all other folks. An elderly lady was riding down to London in a first-class railway compartment when she suddenly confided to the young lady across the aisle, "I saw a splendid play the last time I visited London. Gielgud starred. He was superb. The direction and lighting also were perfect. Only fault with the play was the girl in the leading role. Marguerite Chapman I believe her name was. Shocking performance. I wonder how she got on to acting for a living in the first place."

The young lady's eyes flashed. "It may interest you to learn," she snapped, "that I happen to be Marguerite Chapman!"

The elderly lady nodded. "Yes," she said softly, "I know." George S. Kaufman recently characterized a familiar stage personality as "the most pains-giving director in the New York theater."

Eisenhower Ask More Money For Civil Defense Operation

Urgently Needed — One of the most significant increases President Eisenhower is recommending in his new budget next week is for civil defense.

He is asking for an additional $34,000,000.

The current budget is $69,000,000. The President will urge Congress to raise that to $123,000,000 because of Russian developments in hydrogen weapons.

Directly in line with this increase the President will also propose $300,000,000 for a new continental early-warning network known as SAGE. This project has been under fire in Congress, on charges the Air Force made an unauthorized secret contract with American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Expansion of the Ground Observer Corps to 1,500,000 volunteers. Its present estimated civilian strength is around 340,000. The new plan extends the Corps to all the states.

One-third increase in the number of interceptor planes assigned to the defense of the U. S. and Canada. This additional force will cost around $300,000,000.

Latest inside word is that the President's new budget will total $66,000,000,000. This compares with $59,146,000,000 voted by Congress for the current fiscal year, ending June 30.

Personals — Speaker Sam Rayburn is unperturbed by Leap Year. Says the bachelor Texan, "I've survived many of them, and this one won't be any different."

Three society leaders sitting together at a ball drew an interesting comment. They were Mrs. Merrick Post, former wife of one-time Ambassador Joseph Davies; Mrs. Perle Mesta, former Minister to Luxembourg; and Mrs. Wiley Buchanan, wife of a diplomat. Said a prominent guest, "Those three ladies represent among them more than $50,000,000."

Mrs. William Norton, wife of the visiting Deputy Prime Minister of Ireland, caused no surprise when she appeared at the big reception in their honor in a green gown. It became her exceedingly well... At an official dinner by Norwegian Ambassador Morgenstjerne and his wife, the first six women to arrive wore almost identical black gowns. A pleasant evening was not had by all... Mrs. Frank Boykin, wife of Representative "Everything Made for Love" Boykin (D., Ala.) is proudly displaying a new "grandmother's bracelet," as she calls it. It consists of gold medallions for each of her 10 grandchildren, inscribed with their name and date of birth. Says Mrs. Boykin, "I read that Mrs. Eisenhower had one, and I made Frank go right out and get me one, too."

Note: Representative William Ayres (R., O.) is claiming partial credit for Anthony Eden's trip. Ayres is telling colleagues he suggested it to the British Prime Minister while in London last fall. They met at an official gathering and Ayres told Eden, "The people of America feel they know Churchill, but it's different with you. Why don't you come over and let them see you?" Eden replied smilingly, "I'd like to very much, but first I need an invitation." Upon returning to Washington, Ayres related the conversation to White House press secretary Hagerty, who told the President about it. "And to prove I had something to do with it," adds Ayres, "I have a letter from Eden that he's looking forward to seeing me when he gets here on Friday."

On Capitol Hill — Presidential assistant Sherman Adams is headed for a clash with congressional investigators. Representative Jack Brooks (D., Tex.), who is probing General Services Administrator Edmund Munsure's handling of the government's $100,000,000 nickel plant in Cuba, is demanding copies of letters that Adams allegedly wrote Munsure about this issue. So far, Adams has refused to divulge anything, on the ground White House correspondence is privileged.

Another White House official is slated to be brought into this probe. He was on the staff of former President Truman... Senator William Langer (R., N. D.) created quite a stir at a private judiciary Committee meeting by demanding a probe of juvenile delinquency among Indians in his state. He asserted "a wave of juvenile delinquency is sweeping the Indian reservations in my country, and it ought to be looked into." The Committee took the matter under advisement.

State Police Recruits

—by H. G. Heller

The State Civil Service Commission and the Pennsylvania State Police today announced jointly that arrangements have been completed for written competitive examinations for positions as State Police student recruits.

For the first time, the Commission will recruit trainees for the State Police Training School at Hershey, having previously been engaged only to construct, administer and score written tests for these positions.

Both Colonel E. J. Henry, Commissioner of State Police, and Ralph D. Tive, SCSC Executive Director, have emphasized that, although the Commission will provide examination services, State Police positions are not under the jurisdiction of the State Civil Service Commission and do not have civil service status. However, the Commissioner of State Police said that appointments will be made on a merit basis which will include mental, physical, moral and other qualifications applicable to police service.

Applicants who are appointed from eligible lists prepared by the Civil Service Commission will be assigned to the State Police School at Hershey for six months, training in police methods and procedures. Commissioner Henry indicated that applicants who failed the written examination held on July 9, 1955, are eligible for this new examination. Successful candidates whose names appear on the current eligible list will receive notice to report for physical examination when the next class is organized.

Candidates for the student recruit examination must be single male citizens of the U. S. and must have been legal residents of the Commonwealth for at least one year prior to making application. They must be high school graduates or the equivalent between the ages of 21 and 30 having specified physical qualifications. Eligibility for student trainees also requires that persons be currently licensed Pennsylvania drivers.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

Ironie that Mickey Rooney will replace Donald O'Connor in the "Francis" films. There was the time when Mickey was on the top rungs and many Hollywood people rated O'Connor a minor-league Rooney. Now the cycle has come full swing; Don's on top and Mickey replaces him in Grade-B flickers, besides signing a 7-year teevie contract.

Curiously, you can be a Movietone success and still be as little known as Daniel Mann, who directed the current chick pictures, "Rose Tattoo" and "Till Cry Tomorrow." The Broadway theater will offer 18 premiers before the season's final gasp. Five are revivals... Gisele Neiman starred in Belgium in "Gigi." She also appeared in "Mad Woman of Chailot" there. She is now here studying with the Actors' Lab when she isn't hat-checking at McGinnis' on Main Street at 48th. His complete name is Francis Albert Sinatra. It's never a cinch, folks. During 1953-54 Dana Wynter, the leading lady, often went hungry struggling for a role on Broadway.

"Fantasia," the stage show at the Music Hall, is a water ballet of fountains, whose spray is pulsed with the beat of the music. Takes you into the clouds... What is stardust? Shirley Maclaine's trim torso, carrot-top, sky-blue eyes and acting talent. Unfortunately, she is wasted in the Martin-Lewis padded-celluloid "Artists & Models." "11th Hour Melody" sounds like Al Hibbler's latest mint... Love that town: Chris Schenkel, the sportscar, comes from a place in Indiana named Bippus... The City Center has worries other than Orson's ankles. He spent a fortune on pre-production costs... American Weekly quoted Jayne Mansfield's comment: "I don't think success means much unless you have somebody to share it with. When things go wrong, it's nice to have someone say: 'Darling, I love you anyway!'"

The Ponder Heart" is winning good reports out of town. Stars David Wayne. But that title. What it means? "Ransom." A new movie (due soon), was dramatized twice on teevie... Esquire's siffling-eyed Venice Stevenson, who is... Dinah's hour-show on teevie was bright, breezy, brisk and bish... If you enjoy music, then spin the platter, "Lisbon Antigua." Beautiful... Ironically, it was recorded by Los Chavales de Espana years ago and now Nelson Riddle put it in Hivville... "Studio One" was peopled with gifted actors but Tina Louise (in a skimpy swimsuit) stole the show... Only one musical is playing to standing room: "Damn Yankees"... Two teevie networks are owned by cinema firms. DuMont and ABC... We trust Sir Laurence Olivier was impressed to learn that he is Brando's favorite actor... The ditty that stays in the ears and heart is: "Don't Tell Me Not To Love You"... Sarah Vaughn's disc of the "Mr. Wonderful" score will delight you.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Chained to our own little treadmill, all of us are apt to keep our eyes glued to the endless procession of steps before us, seeing little of the difficulties that others are having. And immersed in our own misery or discomfort we're blind to our neighbor's woes.

That is until suddenly we realize that something didn't seem quite right about that last club meeting, something was missing from the announcement of a forthcoming program, something was awry at a social function. When we try to analyze what we discover that it's who, and that certain vital people have been sick or suffering for sometime.

Fortunately, by the time we discover it, they're mostly on the mend, but it's a blow to discover how selfish and inward-looking we have grown. Right now there seems to be an especially long list of them.

Nine-Year-Olds Share Birthday With Polio Fund

Delaware Water Gap — Beth Shoemaker and Linda Anthony not only shared their ninth birthday party but they shared the results with the March of Dimes for the Polio Foundation. On their invitations, Beth, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shoemaker, and Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Anthony, asked their guests to bring a dime for the March of Dimes instead of the customary birthday gift for the girls.

The guests, getting in the spirit of the thing, each brought a dollar instead of a dime, so that there is $12 to be turned over to the polio drive. The party was held on Saturday, and included games and a hot dog roast around the fireplace.

Guests included Leslie Younk, Mary Baldwin, Faith Lightner, Ann Chamberlain, Yohede Geshensky, Wanda Webb, Linda Snyder, Darlene Ott, Isabelle Mannix, Diane Widdoss, Carol Rohaley and Eileen Sommers.

Four Projects To Benefit From Three-Home Card Party Of Stroudsburg Womens Club

The card party scheduled for Tuesday, January 31, by the Stroudsburg Women's Club, is the major fund raising project of the year for the club, and it is being held primarily to benefit this year's major welfare project: to buy recreational equipment for use at the Salvation Army.

Prominent in the list of needs are basketball uniforms for boys in the ages 14 to 20; a volleyball net; punching bag and platform, and boxing gloves.

While this project will require the most money, the club also has other projects for the year which they hope will benefit from the card party proceeds.

To Entertain Foreign Student — One of these is to entertain a foreign student of college age for eight weeks this summer. The members of the club and others interested have already extended an invitation to the girl to be their guest. The expense involved includes only her fare from New York to the Stroudsburgs and return.

Candidates are carefully screened before being assigned and none are accepted from Communist-dominated countries. Mrs. Herbert Stoner has made the preliminary arrangements for this project, and a new appointee will take over the project since Mrs. Stoner is moving away. Meanwhile Mrs. LeRoy Koehler, international affairs chairman, is in charge of scheduling her appearances before local groups who may wish to have her on their program.

Furnishings For Stroud House — The club also hopes to buy suitable furnishings for the extra room now available for their use at the Stroud Community House. Mrs. Paul Lloyd, home chairman, is in charge of selecting furnishings in keeping with the historic emphasis of the house.

A long-range project of the Women's Club is contributions to a Home for the Aged 11 of Monroe County. The project, launched by the Business and Professional Women's Club some years ago, is also being sponsored by a number of other clubs within the county. In the Women's Club, Mrs. Carroll All has kept the board informed of the needs and progress of the project and of the other organizations interested. Any extra money from the card party will be put in this fund.

The women themselves, through their dues and their personal contributions at club meetings, have already sponsored a Christmas party for the children and parents at the Well-Baby Clinic and has paid for the distribution of 220 pounds of U.S. Surplus Food in foreign countries through CARE.

Three homes are being opened to accommodate the guests who will begin play simultaneously at 1 p.m. The homes to be opened are those of Mrs. Ernest Wyckoff, Mrs. Forrest Burrows and Mrs. Howard Rockefeller. Table reservations should be telephoned to the party co-chairmen, Mrs. Walter Wertheimer, 2554-J, or Mrs. James Morgan, 295-M, early this week. They have other homes offered which may be opened if the number of reservations warrant.

Dingman's Home Ec Group Discuss Mixes

Dingman's Ferry — The Home Economics Group of Dingman's Ferry met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Paul Schuepp on the Silver Lake Road. Miss Hilda Haskell, Extension Home Economist, led a discussion on the subject of "Basic Home Mixes." Relative merits of prepared commercial mixes and these homemade mixes were compared, together with questions of costs and labor time.

Several women who had been given the recipe in advance brought different types of baked goods, made from the single basic recipe, which were used as part of the refreshments for the day.

The next meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, February 7, at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Whinn on Mill Road, will have as its topic for discussion: "Fancy Cake Decorating." Several women will come prepared with different types of icings and decorating tools to demonstrate the different methods of icing and decorating special occasion cakes.

New Museum Rooms To Be Open Tuesday

The Monroe County Historical Society Museum will be open to the public on Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 4. At that time the newly-acquired and refurnished museum rooms will be open to the general public for the first time. The rooms are on the first floor of the Stroud Community House, Ninth and Main Sts., Stroudsburg.

The two rooms which comprised the Monroe County Library have been turned over to the Historical Society for their museum collection. Housed in one room are furniture from the original Stroud home. The original panelling, revealed when the library shelves were taken down, has been painted, and both rooms redecorated.

Mrs. Horace G. Walters, custodian; Mrs. Earl Groner, assistant; Miss Lulu Shafer, librarian, with Mrs. Milo Kasey and Mrs. S. F. Shiffer, have supervised the restoration of the rooms with the assistance of other members of the historical society.

At the congregational meeting, the annual reports of the church and its organizations will be presented in mimeographed form. There will also be the election of five elders, four deacons and four deaconesses.

At the corporation meeting three trustees will be elected.

Former Local Pastor's Son Is Married

Rev. Orion Elchner, pastor of Arndt's and Salem Lutheran Churches in Forks Township, whose father was a former pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, was married on Saturday to Miss Gloria Mae Groner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Groner of 42 South New St., Nazareth.

The bride was married in St. John's Lutheran Church, Nazareth, by Rev. Harvey C. Snyder, D.D., pastor, being assisted by Rev. Myron Elchner, of Ephrata, the bridegroom's brother, and by Rev. Malcolm Elchner, of Philadelphia, his uncle.

The bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Floyd Elchner, a native of Stroudsburg, who now lives in Philadelphia.

Miss Margaret Woodring, of Nazareth, was maid of honor, and the Misses Nancy Miller, of Allentown, and Shirley Stofflet, of Nazareth, were bridesmaids. Miss Sarah Groner acted as junior bridesmaid for her sister.

The Rev. Charles Limpert, pastor of Arndt's and Farmersville Evangelical and Reformed churches, served as best man. Ushers included the Rev. Kenneth Ensminger, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Easton, and the Rev. Glenn E. Clauser, of Minerva, Ohio.

The bride was dressed in a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin and a fingertip veil of illusion attached to a crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and streamers of white baby orchids and lilies of the valley. The gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline trimmed with sequins, long lace sleeves and a bouffant skirt ending in a cathedral train.

The bride's attendants were attired in gowns of blue net trimmed with sequins and lace. They wore blue flowered headpieces with matching veils. The maid of honor and the junior bridesmaid carried white muffs with blue carnations and greens, while the bridesmaids had blue muffs with white carnations and greens.

After a reception in the church social rooms, Rev. and Mrs. Orion Elchner are now spending their honeymoon in the Poconos.

The bride is a graduate of Nazareth Area Joint High School and was employed by the Eastern National Bank before her marriage. The bridegroom was graduated from Northeast High School, Philadelphia, Muhlenberg College and Mount Airy Theological Seminary.

BPWC Busy Giving Away Its Money

The Business and Professional Women's Club devoted their February meeting strictly to business at the dinner held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. The main business was giving away money.

The club voted to give $10 to Tuberculosis Society Seals; $50 to the Mothers March on Polio for the March of Dimes; and the remainder of their proceeds from the Christmas party, amounting to $56.10 to Business and Professional Women hit by the California flood.

This contribution will be handled through the National Federation of BPWC, and will go to a club in the locality of Yuma, it was decided.

Miss Joyce Ruff also reported on plans for the Mother's March on Polio, scheduled for January 31. Miss Marie Brown, president, reporting for Mrs. Berenice All, announced that progress was being made in the plans for the Home for the Aged 11.

The schedule of future programs was also discussed. In February, there will be a program arranged by the education and vocations committee with Mrs. Betty Peterson as chairman and the health and safety committee of which Miss Hazel Hartman is chairman.

The annual birthday party in March will feature a Men's Night, and in April there will be induction of new members in a special program arranged by Mrs. Ann George, membership chairman.

Course In Chair Caning To Be Offered

Any woman interested in chair caning, rush or splint weaving is invited to get in touch with the home economics extension representative, Miss Margaret MacLaren, at the Stroudsburg post office in the near future.

Cards have been sent out to the home extension groups now active in the county announcing plans for such a course on a county-wide basis, but women not connected with the groups are also free to join. Most of the adult home ec groups have already taken up caning as a group project, but some new members are interested in learning how.

Miss MacLaren is starting the class for those from all sections of the county. She must know within the near future how many others are interested so that she can order supplies.

Book Reviewed

Portland — The Literature Group of the Woman's Club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. David Edwards. Mrs. Ernest Courtney reviewed the book, "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit". Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held February 8 at the home of Mrs. Ray Transue.

Standing inside the shoe department window Saturday, it was fascinating to watch the sun shine through the huge drops of water weeping their way from our store front — a rather different version of "looking at the world through rose colored glasses", and a very beautiful one. It reminded me of the photographic exhibit on our second floor where, as you walk along feasting your eyes, you see for perhaps the first time the real beauty in two bottles of milk and a folded newspaper, or some equally prosaic detail of everyday living. In our odd moments of leisure, we can learn a great many truths among them that God has filled the world with beauty for the delight of everyone from the poorest to the richest. It's not His fault that we so often overlook the opportunities to enjoy it. . . . Edna Brockman has filled the hearts of would-be travelers with envy by releasing printed itineraries of the scheduled Travel Bureau excursion to Mexico March 8th to 20th. At least two of our store family will be joining her party — Cora Albertson, head of the lingerie department, and Margaret Hunter, head of the payroll department. . . . Mexico sounds like wondrous fun, but so does tonight's Ice Revue at Madison Square Garden. About eighty of us will be leaving the station in East Stroudsburg at 4:35 and arriving home in the small hours of tomorrow. In the meantime, we'll enjoy laughter, excitement and breathtaking spectacle jammed into several thrilling hours. . . . If you've been waiting for it, I see the pottery from Denmark has finally been placed on display in our gift department. Cutest item, perhaps, is a brown piggy bank, speckled with white dots. . . . No use writing a column every day if you can't use it for an occasional bit of blackmail. Sauntering into the alterations room where Marie Bean was dispensing a delectable chocolate cake in celebration of her birthday, I suggested that she'd better make mine large — or I'd tell her age in print. Kathryn Long had baked it and I was glad the piece was so big — after all you don't get cake like that every day! Just between us, I couldn't tell Marie's age if I wanted to. Couldn't even guess at it. All I know is that this Bean's certainly a good egg! . . . Proof once again that Wyckoff has a heart big as a barn, came Saturday when Holt Wyckoff suggested that Sonia Bachman might want to go home. "After all," he said, "her husband's in the service headed for Alaska or some place, and here he is in town and she's selling candy." Starry-eyed Sonia could hardly wait for a replacement to arrive. "Wouldn't you just love to be young again?" Elsie Miller asked as we saw her excitement. I suppose maybe I would. Being not quite-eighteen might be marvelous. But there are compensations too in just watching someone else be that age! . . . Funniest thing I've seen on television in ages was Friday night's episode of Ethel and Albert, who were enroute to Bermuda. All was fine, until the social page mixed captions under pictures and Ethel's face appeared under the line "Old Tug Gets Face Lifted". Here at Wyckoff's we can't lift faces — but we can lift spirits right now with values galore. What's more, our Beauty Salon can lift those drooping locks into an elegant new hairdo for Spring, and our fashion departments can give a woman countless new reasons for the lift in her step. Whether you're young, old, or fair-to-middling if you feel that "old tug" toward a lovelier outlook, Wyckoff's will probably be able to solve your dilemma. "Yacht!" to see to it today!

Eagle Picher
Has Modern
Storm Door
THE EAGLE-PICHER Company's Storm Enclosure Department, one of the country's largest manufacturers of a complete line of aluminum storm enclosures, recently introduced its beautiful new "Self-Storing Combination Door."
This new door is considered the ultimate in the line and embodies a number of brilliant new features which are exclusively Eagle-Picher.
The Eagle-Picher Self-Storing
Combination Door is the last word in modern design and precision engineering. The door features three specially designed notched hinges of special grade stainless steel which provide a trim, smooth, neat appearance in addition to extra strength for long, dependable service. These hinges get much of their long-wearing durability and free-swinging efficiency from specially designed nylon bearings; no wiggling or "jimmying" the door to open or close it.
Mohair Baffle
A mohair baffle of scientifically treated wool, placed in the door buck, is another one of the outstanding new features of the Eagle-Picher Self-Storing Combination Door. In addition to weatherstripping the door, this improving feature silences all noise of metal-to-metal contact in the operation of the door. Truly, the Eagle-Picher Self-Storing Door is the door that "whispers" when it closes.
The Eagle-Picher Self-Storing
Combination Door has a unique vinyl sweep securely attached at the bottom. This new feature cuts under-door drafts to a minimum.
It is made of extruded aluminum frame members. The door is a full one-inch thick with sturdy reinforced corners for a lasting, straight-line, non-sagging appearance. The door comes with two glass and one screen inserts to give the homeowner complete top or complete bottom ventilation as desired. These aluminum-framed inserts glide up and down in stainless steel channels for easy, effortless adjustment to the position desired.
Complete seasonal changeover can be made in as little time as four seconds.

Ford Offers
200 Great
Truck Models
FORD FOR '56 offers 200 new truck models with greater engine performance and payload capacity, according to Jess Haynes, local Ford dealer.
Two new models have been added to the Ford truck line—a T-750 tandem axle model in the heavy truck series, and a new, longer wheelbase pickup.
Gross vehicle weights extend from 5,000 pounds on the pickup to 42,000 pounds on the heavy duty.
Visibility
For 1956, Ford's cab design introduces increased visibility of wrap-around windshields and optional wraparound rear windows.
Introduced for the first time to the trucking industry are two standard safety features—a safety steering wheel and safety door latches. Seat belts are optional.
The safety steering wheel is designed with a rim three inches above the horn button to give the driver's chest added protection from the steering column in case of a crash.
Also, a new safety door latch reduces the chance that doors will open in an accident, providing occupants added protection from being thrown out of the cab.
Tubeless tires, standard equipment this year, increase Ford truck economy. Larger payloads can be carried because tubeless tires and wheels weigh less, which is important to a trucker with as many as 10 tires on his truck.
They reduce tire-change time up to 70 per cent.
Ford's short stroke, low friction engine design has been continued this year in eight engine combinations developed for more power, fuel savings and durability.
Increased H. P.
Horsepower has been increased in all engines, by 12.7 per cent in the smallest 223 cu. in. six cylinder engine rated at 133 hp to 17.6 per cent in the largest 332 cu. in.
heavy duty Y-8 engine rated at 200 hp when equipped with a four barrel carburetor.
In the medium-heavy truck series,
a special heavy-duty 168 hp
Y-8 engine is available equipped with a four-barrel carburetor—one of the most powerful engines in this weight class.
In the heavy truck series, an optional power package consists of four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts and special cold air intake.
The intake is a hood air scoop, increasing efficiency and performance.
The 332 cu. in. engine develops 200 hp with this equipment.
Another option is a thermostat fan which adds power to heavy trucks by disengaging the engine fan at low operating temperatures.
This provides up to 18 more usable horsepower at the clutch.
In all engines, improved man-ifolding and valving moves the fuel mixture in and out of the combustion chamber more efficiently.
Style Advances
In addition to wraparound windshield design, styling advances include a new one-piece grille with integral head lamp hoods and hoodings. The hooded 1956 roof extends ahead of the windshield, and acts as a partial sun visor.
In the Customized cab, foam rubber cushioning five inches deep in the seat and three inches deep in the seat back contribute to driver comfort.
All Ford cabs are available in a choice of eight single colors or

William Queenan, owner of Queen-

730 Main St.
"The JFD Star-Helix TV antenna gets brilliant pictures where other antennas have failed in this area."
"We have installed many different kinds of antennas here in our Monroe County area, but we find that in 'pulling' the signal in from 90 to 100 miles away, nothing beats the JFD Star-Helix antenna," Mr.
Queenan emphasized.
Special Design
"The reason no other antenna can do this is because only the JFD Star-Helix has microwave helical design . . . the most sensitive design known to modern electronics."

Bonnie Prince Charles' Wife Major Worry

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Prince Charles is only 7 but some people already are worrying about a heir for the heir to the British throne.

Lord Beaverbrook's empire-minded Sunday Express, in all seriousness, said today the time has come to give the matter thought, with the idea of possibly relaxing rigid restrictions governing royal marriages "to avoid another tragic royal crisis" such as that which befell the Duke of Windsor.

Medieval Touch

"At first there seems a far-fetched medieval touch about discussing the marriage prospects of a boy of 7," said the Express. "Yet if we don't discuss and settle the matter when he is a child, we may find that we have left medieval limitations upon his choice of consort when he becomes a man."

As a future Prince of Wales in line to inherit the crown, Charles would normally be expected to select his bride from royalty. But changing times have made the crop of eligible princesses skimpy.

The Express came to this conclusion:

"Only two are close to Prince Charles in age. One is Princess Maria Christine of the Netherlands. The other is Denmark's Princess Anna Marie."

Charge Union Stopped Train

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. yesterday broke off negotiations in the walkout at its nearby Lester plant, saying members of the striking independent union "deliberately barred" a train from leaving the plant.

Officials of the union, Local 107 of the Independent United Electrical Workers, denied the accusation and said union men on the locomotive were honoring a picket line.

Negotiations in the dispute which has killed 6,000 workers since Oct. 15, began for the first time two weeks ago and had been recessed until tomorrow. The union is on strike for increased wages and improved working conditions.

SEN. PAUL H. DOUGLAS (D-Ill.) is shown in Washington before he started what he promised would be a four-day speech in opposition to a bill lifting price controls from natural gas producers. The Illinois Senator said that the defeat of the gas bill would save consumers some 30 billion dollars. However, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), a co-sponsor of the measure, denounced Douglas' speech as "a masterpiece of inaccuracy and exaggeration."

SEN. LISTER HILL (D-Ala.) has been chosen to receive the first annual award of the National Mental Health Committee for "outstanding contributions by a public official during 1955 in the fight against mental illness." A gold statuette will be presented to the Alabama Senator on February 10.

THE U. S. AIRCRAFT CARRIER Leyte looks as if it is going to take some of the Brooklyn Bridge's underpinnings with it as it heads up the East River on the way to the New York Naval Shipyard for a five-month overhaul. The 33,000-ton-carrier made it with room to spare. It was only the camera that was playing tricks. It is the ship's first visit to New York in five years. The flattop had part of her superstructure removed at Bayonne, N.J., to be able to make the voyage with safety up the river.

Heavy Registration Gives Democratic Candidate Edge In Congressional Contest

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22 (AP)—A Democrat is heavily favored to win a special congressional election in the 30th District Tuesday because of a better than two to one edge in registrations.

The district includes a part of Pittsburgh and adjoining areas of Allegheny County. The Democrats have 128,493 voters eligible and the Republicans 63,436.

"If I win it will be better than a miracle," said David J. Smith, the Republican candidate as he wound up his campaign.

Smith, a 45-year-old confectionery store owner in McKeesport, is opposing State Sen. Elmer J. Holland, long prominent in the Democratic Party, the 59-year-old Holland is a veteran member of the Pennsylvania Legislature. He is backed heavily by labor groups.

The election is to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Vera Buchanan (D-Pa.), who died a few weeks ago. The term runs to January, 1957.

The district has been held by Democrats continuously since the lines were established in 1942. In 1954 Mrs. Buchanan defeated Smith 57,318 to 44,157. In 1952 she won over Republican Peter F. Bender 115,292 to 65,926.

Telephone lineman Joseph P. Carroll and splicer William F. Holmes, of the Altoona Plant Department, shop for new hunting equipment in a local sporting goods store. They're typical of 37,000 telephone men and women who are steady customers of those who sell life's necessities, luxuries and services throughout Pennsylvania.

We are good customers of thousands of Pennsylvania's businesses and industries

It takes a lot of buying to keep Pennsylvania's booming economy rolling along.

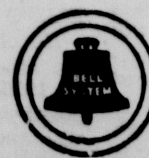

Contributing a large share of the purchasing power required are 37,000 telephone men and women who live, work and shop in hundreds of communities served by Bell all over the state.

Last year, their Telephone Company incomes totaled more than $150 million, and most of it was spent right in the communities in which it was earned—to buy all kinds of basic needs and conveniences, in food markets, drugstores, beauty parlors, de-

In addition, the Telephone Company and its manufacturing unit bought $80 million worth of materials and services last year—from Pennsylvania suppliers alone.

Any way you look at it, the successful operation of the telephone business is a big factor in keeping merchants and manufacturers—and their employees—prospering the year round throughout the Keystone State.

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG High guaranteed itself of at least a tie for fourth place in the final standings of the Lehigh-Northampton League with a 65-48 basketball victory over Bangor on Friday. At the same time Stroudsburg assured itself of a last place finish during the first half of the Lehigh Valley League at the same time by dropping an 80-69 verdict to Lehigh. The two local schools are certainly playing directly opposite roles.

The Cavaliers, with a four and three record in the league and an overall mark of seven wins and four setbacks, is enjoying its best season in recent years. The Mountaineers on the other hand are currently caught in one of their poorest campaigns. Stroudsburg is currently dragging a league mark of six defeats and no wins. Against all opposition the V. Main St. cagers are marching along with a record of two wins and nine defeats.

East Stroudsburg came up with a good victory over Bangor and King Beers supplied the spark for the second straight game, although Jim Kimler was another big part of the favorable nod. Beers scored 25 points to make his total 52 in the last two games. He picked up 27 on Tuesday against Hellertown and against Bangor was outstanding in every department. Kimler, as mentioned above, also was a big factor in Eastburg's latest win.

It was obvious at the very beginning of the contest that Kimler had the touch. His shots were arching and his touch was "soft". When the big guy has both these qualities in his shot, he can be mighty tough to handle. But, the truly big factor in East Stroudsburg's win was defense. The Cavaliers threw up a "collapsing zone" that bottled up every Slater except the brilliant Don Keat, and it actually made things very tough for the circuits leading scorer.

Keat is a fine ball player. He shoots excellently, is neat perfect from the foul line and is a good rebounder, even though he stands only a shade above six feet, one inch in height. Don, one of the most modest kids to ever come down the pike, has now scored 191 points on 60 field goals and 71 foul shots in six circuit outings. This is an average of 31.8 points a game. His output against Eastburg was 27 points, put together on seven goals from the floor and 13 from the foul line. His seven field goals was a remarkable feat under the circumstances.

East Stroudsburg's defense clogged up the middle on Keat, a spot from where he likes to shoot, and Dale Metzgar shadowed Don all over the court in the first half, turning him aside on many occasions. Keat's shooting was all under pressure and he did a great job. He's everything they say he is and maybe more. Gary Strauss, Bangor guard, saw his streak of 20 straight foul shot conversions come to an end when he missed two charity tosses.

Stroudsburg appeared destined to fight back from the brink of defeat against Lehigh when the Mountaineers threw up a good "all court press" in the final period. But, as has happened so often this season, the Mountaineers made three quick mental lapses and the Indians had six points. Two wild passes brought about four converted foul shots, while another heave directly into the hands of a Lehigh player accounted for a field goal.

Lehigh, coached by Stroudsburg's Ben Jones, presented a well schooled cage machine that has suffered two defeats by the Indians of a couple of points. The Indians were calm under all conditions and this factor proved the difference between victory and defeat. The Mountaineers grabbed 40 rebounds, 17 off the offensive board and 23 off the defensive board. Ten of the 23 defensive rebounds were credited to Tom Savidge. Stroudsburg lost the ball 14 times and made good on 27 of 86 shots from the field.

The Mountaineers converted eight of 23 field goal attempts in the first period; six for 22 in the second stanza; six for 21 in the third period and seven for 18 in the home stretch. The outcome could have been different if Doug Shook had been able to play more than half the game. Doug, Stroudsburg's big gun, sat out most of the second and third periods before fouling out of the game in the late stages of the third round. Doug finished with 10 points to bring his league total to 127 points for six games. Shook is certainly one of the best performers in the circuit.

Millersville Crushes ESSTC Under 86-45 Avalanche

Parker Paces Mates To 39th Win

MILLERSVILLE — Millersville State Teachers streaked to their 39th straight Pennsylvania State Teachers College Basketball Conference victory without a defeat Saturday night by piling up an 86-45 verdict over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, here on the winning contingent's home court.

ESSTC's tight zone defense held the high powered Millersville five in check through the first half, but big John Parker went on a wild scoring spree in the second half to pace the defending conference champions to a decisive victory. Millersville is currently shooting for its fourth straight crown.

Parker, one of the state's most prolific scorers also gave a tremendous demonstration of rebounding ability before a capacity crowd as the Warriors went down to their sixth setback in eight games.

Big Night
Parker finished the contest with 27 points and 20 rebounds to his credit after playing all but one and one-half minute of the contest. The big center picked up 10 of his points in the last quarter. Through the game he found the range on 12 of 17 shots from the field and three of four tosses from the free throw line.

ESSTC, playing with a new lineup, tossed a deep two-three zone defense at the high flying Millersville club in the first half.

But, the Warriors also found it impossible to hit from the floor and had to abandon this defense in an effort to spark their own offense in the third and fourth quarters.

The host squad had the better of a slow moving first quarter, 13-9, and moved into 30-19 lead at the halfway mark by racking up a 17-10 advantage in the second quarter.

Parker and company really got rolling in the third period when they raced to 25 points and then put on a dazzling display of 31 counters in the fourth and final quarter. ESSTC gathered 15 points in the third stanza and 11 during the final 10 minutes of action.

ESSTC, able to hit on only two of 20 shots from one point on the floor, were limited to 15 goals from the field and could register only 15 of 27 shots from the foul line.

Millers reaped a harvest of 35 goals from the court and found the range on 16 of 21 charity tosses.

Dave Fitzgibbons was the number two scorer for Millersville with 14 counters. He hit on six of 11 shots from the field and dropped two of three foul shots into the nets. Bob Wentzel was number three in line with 12 counters.

Kelly McLaughlin, who played an outstanding game opposite Parker, led the ESSTC offense with 16 points, while Charley Galambos followed with 13. Galambos led the visiting team with nine rebounds, while McLaughlin was next in line with seven.

The Warriors, now caught in the midst of a three-game losing streak, will remain idle until Saturday, February 4, at which time the charges of Coach Jerry Palania will stack up against Cheyney, at Cheyney, with Charley German, last season's star, back in the lineup.

Warriors Bow Before Bloomsburg For Third Straight Wrestling Defeat Without Victory

BLOOMSBURG—East Stroudsburg State Teachers College displayed marked improvement, but the Warriors were forced to settle for their third straight wrestling defeat without a victory this season when Bloomsburg Teachers scored a 22-10 decision before a large crowd in their home gymnasium Saturday night.

The win was the second straight without a loss for the Huskies, who also own a verdict over Pennsylvania Military College. ESSTC has lost to Ithaca, Wilkes and Bloomsburg.

ESSTC picked up all their points in two matches and both turned out to be the most thrilling of the meeting.

Art Boger, ESSTC's 137-pound entry, pinned Bill Calderwood in a real struggle. The time was one minute and 50 seconds of the third period.

Andy Gail, the visiting heavyweight, upset favored and highly regarded Harry Hughes in the heavyweight bout with a surprise pin in five minutes and one second, although outwrestled by approximately 18 pounds.

Otherwise the match was all Bloomsburg, although several of the individual events were hotly contested.

Bloomsburg won the 123-pound opened when Jim Garman pinned Bob Murphy in two minutes and 40 seconds and the home team took an 8-0 lead when Joe Caw-thern decided Francis Grevera, 7-5. Charley Reigel gave the home team three more points by scoring a 5-0 nod over Bill Givens in the 147-pound event.

The Huskies continued to roll up the points when Charley Abenmoha pinned John Falvo in four minutes and 50 seconds of the 157-pound event and George Champ decided Mike LaPorta in the 167-pound clash.

Bloomsburg picked up its last three points when Don Wise earned a 7-3 decision over Bruce Haynes in the 177-pound event.

The Warriors remain idle now until Wednesday, February 1, at which time West Chester's grapplers will appear in the Normal Hill gymnasium.

Waymart Continues To Set Pace

HONESDALE—Like a fast freight with a clear track, Waymart's powerful Warriors continue to roll on, showing the eight other members of the Wayne County Basketball Conference off on a siding to vie for the honor of being the next train down the line.

Greene-Dreher-Setrling was Waymart's victim Friday night, falling before the size and skill of the upper Wayne crew, 79-67. The Warriors now are 8-0 on the season, leading both divisions, the Northern by one-half game over Lake Ariel and the Southern over GDS by a one-and-one-half game margin.

A pair of mild upsets marked Friday's action with Lake Ariel surprising Hawley, 56-49, and Damascus moving out of the cellar of the Northern half by downing Pleasant Mount, 67-55. Honesdale beat Preston, 68-40, in the other game.

Lake Ariel led all the way against the Buchhorns by putting the damper on their strong man, Jim Gellatt, who got a mere eight points in the contest. Meanwhile, Bill "Ike" Eisenhower hit for 23 points and Jim Conway and Hal Franc added 10 and 11 points, respectively. Bill "Red" Leinart was high for the Bucks with 21.

Initial Win
With Welk (21), Fred Shackenberg (18) and Swendsen (11) leading the way, Carl Bell's Swords-men made every period except the third a winning one to register Damascus' first loop win. Jim O'Neill, with 18 markers, was top producer for the Mounties.

Honesdale trailed in the opening eight minutes but then applied the pressure to outscore Preston for the Hornets' fourth WCC success. Coburn Eastman, with 17, and Jerry Seibert, with 13, put the sting in the Hornets' attack. Mike Deschak had 17 for the losers.

Six games are carded this week, the halfway point of the season. Tomorrow night Lake Ariel travels to Pleasant Mount and Hawley plays host to Damascus. Friday night will find Honesdale at Damascus, Hawley at Greene-Dreher Sterling, Lake Ariel at Preston and Waymart at Moscow.

Knicks Shade Lakers

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 22 (AP)—Rookie Ken Sears and veteran Harry Gallatin combined for 25 points in the fourth quarter to lead New York to a 100-95 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers in a National Basketball Association game before 4,510 fans here tonight.

Souchak Adds Caliente Title To Winnings

TUJANA, Mexico, Jan. 22 (AP)—Power-hitting Mike Souchak, with a gallant come-from-behind performance, captured the $12,500 Caliente Open golf tournament today with a final round 71 and a 72-hole score of 281.

The popular, 28-year-old Souchak clipped one stroke off par 72 and was seven under regulation figures for the distance in a rousing duel with tall Tommy Bolt, the leader by two strokes going into the final round.

The scene was the Tijuana Country Club, with par 35-36-72 and the battleground was stretched out to its full championship 7,400 yards.

Two Strokes
Bolt finished two strokes behind Souchak registering a disappointing 75 for 283.

Souchak collected $2,200 top money for his four days of labor and his rounds of 65-71-74-71.

Tied at third at 284 were Marty Furgol, with a last-round 73; Mike Fetschik, with a 71; and the amateur surprise of the tournament, Rod Funset of Spokane, Wash., who opened up in the first round with a 67 and finished today with a 71.

Gene Littler, with a 73, John Barnum, with a 71, and Bill Casper of nearby Chula Vista, with a 70, were deadlocked at 285.

Souchak marched through the first two rounds as the scoring leader, but surrendered it to Bolt yesterday as his game temporarily went to pot.

But today the 212-pound former Duke University football star caught up with Bolt on the sixth hole of the round and passed him at the ninth when Bolt failed to sink a putt that measured no more than 30 inches.

Big Mike never let go from there on in.

Hot Putter
"I putted much better today. I got the ones down that I needed. This course was a helluva golf course these last two days—long and tough," he commented.

Souchak's 281, incidentally, broke by a single stroke an ancient record for the tournament established in 1934 by a then great golfer, Wiffy Cox.

Big Mike's best putt was for a birdie on the fifth green—a fancy 20-footer. "That one I really needed."

Tied at 286 were Billy Maxwell, with a 68 today, Dow Finsterwald, a 68, and Vic Ghezzi.

Souchak was presented with a mammoth trophy, featuring the last king of the Aztecs.

TV Networks Charge Olympic Monopolies

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 22 (AP)—Three of the world's largest television networks today asked the International Olympic Committee to call a halt to Olympic TV monopolies.

The networks said they will reserve a season on whether to cover the Moscow summer games unless the monopolies are forbidden. Representatives of the Columbia Broadcasting System, National Broadcasting Co. and the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., made their request to the IOC, which goes into session tomorrow.

They asked Avery Brundage, Chicago hotelman who is IOC president to lead the way to restoring "freedom of the press, especially as regards television and radio."

Reports
Unofficial sources here said Australian Olympic organizers are "demanding half a million dollars for American television rights for the Melbourne games."

Brundage said the perplexing question of televising of Olympic games, both summer and winter games, would be considered during a meeting of the IOC here during the next three and possibly four days.

The basic issue is simple: whether future Olympic organizers can sell TV rights for what the traffic will bear or whether TV will have free access to coverage along with newsmen and still photographers.

The IOC is meeting here in connection with the 7th winter games from Jan. 26-Feb. 5.

Former Major Leaguer Dies

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 22 (AP)—Alois H. Ollie Kirkmayer, 65, a former major league baseball pitcher, died today of a heart ailment.

Bushkill Elects Officers For PML Baseball Campaign

BUSHKILL—Bushkill will be a definite entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League next Summer, it was decided during a meeting held here at "Rick" DePue's Restaurant on Saturday night.

"The league will definitely have 10 teams for the coming campaign," Ray Davies, circuit president, happily announced after the meeting.

Bushkill was one of two teams in an uncertain position prior to Saturday's meeting. Moorestown, a member of the circuit last season, is the only club not heard from to date. The Strouds, a club representing Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, will probably be the only new entry in the circuit during the coming campaign.

Officers
Harold Latta, former East Stroudsburg High School athlete, was named president of the new Bushkill organization, while Tom Michaels, an Eastburg baseball star, was named secretary-treasurer. Tom Carmella was selected as the field manager.

John Wernett, secretary of the Pocono Mountains League, presided over the election, while Mrs. "Rick" DePue and Davies served as judges and tellers of election.

Present at the meeting in addition to those mentioned above were Curt Hickman, John Regina, Paul Hoffman, Dick Hickman, last season's pilot, and DePue.

The club will hold another meeting tomorrow, also here at DePue's, at 8 p.m. A fund raising campaign will be formulated at this meeting.

Davies also announced, at the close of the meeting that the team had settled all outside debts and will soon pay its indebtedness to the league.

As of now it appears as if the league will operate with Saylorsburg, Kunkletown, Tannersville, West End A. C. Reeders, Bushkill, Anomink, Barrett, Lake Harmony and the Strouds in the fold.

Zimmer, Gray Sign

BROOKLYN, Jan. 22 (AP)—Don Zimmer, the Dodgers' able but unlucky utility infielder, and Dick Gray, a rookie third baseman from Ford Worth, sent in their signed contracts today to bring the club's list of players under contract for 1956 to 16.

Altomose Among Chairmen In Favor Of Clark To Contest Duff For Senatorial Seat

By Lee Linder

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22 (AP)—Former Philadelphia Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. gained ground today in his unannounced, behind-the-scenes political battle to become the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Republican James H. Duff.

As Pennsylvania Democrats moved closer to the day of decision—and that may come as early as Friday when the state committee meets in Harrisburg—Clark's supporters pointed to these signs in his favor:

Favors Clark

Sheriff Jacob Altomose, Democratic County Chairman of Monroe, favors Clark.

1. An indication that many of the state's top democrats, including Governor Leader and Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, lean toward Clark.

2. That Clark's chief opposition is centered in Philadelphia where organization Democrats pledged to City Chairman William Green can't forget the ex-mayor refused to play ball on patronage and charter-amending schemes.

3. That party leaders have ignored last week's assertion by Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia financier, that Clark couldn't strengthen the Democratic ticket in this presidential election year. Greenfield said he favors Green.

4. The Democratic state organization, if it hopes to maintain unity and prevent a party-splitting primary fight, must make some kind of endorsement soon. Not only on the senatorial nominee, but on candidates for four other statewide offices—treasurer, auditor general, justice of the supreme court and judge of the superior court.

First Day To File

Jan. 31, a week from this Tuesday, is the first day that candidates can file petitions for nomination in the April 24 primary. The last day is Feb. 21.

Because of that, State Chairman Joseph S. Barr said the party's policy committee will meet the first week in February to slate statewide candidates. But the decision, possibly, could come before that—perhaps by Friday when the state committee assembles to select delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention.

Green, like Clark and everyone else who may have ideas on becoming the candidate for U. S. Senator, has not officially announced he wants the job—but he has said he'll take it if he gets the endorsement of the state committee.

His chances of winning state committee support appears very remote, and if he means what he says and drops out the possibility of a primary battle will decrease. A survey by the Philadelphia Bulletin showed today that Clark is favored 10 to 1 by Democratic leaders outside of the Quaker City who responded.

Questionnaires

The Bulletin mailed questionnaires to 177 Democrats in the 66 counties outside Philadelphia—and replies were received from 61. Of these 51 said they favored Clark, five were for Green and five were undecided or backed other men.

The survey was significant in that it showed Clark's strength in the rural counties of central, north-eastern and western Pennsylvania.

In all Clark had support from 25 counties while Green was favored by Democrats in four.

Eighteen county chairmen favored Clark and two were for Green. In addition Clark led 25 to 3 among members of the state Democratic committee who responded. Counties whose chairmen favored Clark included Armstrong, Bedford, Cameron, Cambria, Clarion, Fulton, Huntingdon, Indiana, Monroe, Lebanon, Lancaster, Sullivan, Snyder and York. Four other counties preferred to remain anonymous.

Supporters

The only announced county for Green was Potter.

Support for Clark came, too, from leaders in Blair, Centre, Chester, Clearfield, Columbia, Crawford, Dauphin, Franklin, Lehigh, Luzerne, Monroe, Montour, Perry, Susquehanna, Wyoming, Delaware and Beaver.

Green's other backers came from Erie and Montgomery while a Westmoreland County Democrat advanced the name of Congressman Edward A. Wolfe and former U. S. Sen. Francis Myers got support from a Washington County

Caine Mutiny To Columbia

NEW YORK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Author Herman Wouk, who wrote the Pulitzer prize-winning novel, "The Caine Mutiny," is presenting the major portion of his original manuscripts to Columbia University.

Wouk, a Columbia graduate, is presenting the manuscripts of "The Caine Mutiny," "Aurora Dawn," "Slattery's Hurricane," and "The City Boy."

leader.

The sentiment of rural Democrats in choosing between Clark and Green was expressed this way by one person who responded to the Bulletin poll:

"I will have to admit that as far as my county and rural Pennsylvania are concerned Mr. Clark will attract more Republican and Independent voters and still get the regular Democratic vote than would Congressman Green."

"My idea would be to run Mr. Clark for U. S. Senator, satisfy Mr. Green with something, and run a man from rural Pennsylvania for either state treasurer or auditor general. Rural Pennsylvania should be given some consideration in order to hold the gains we have made there."

Labor Support

Of some significance, too, was the support for Clark by John Torquato, Cambria County chairman and Secretary of Labor in Leader's cabinet, and Herman E. Klindinst, chairman of Leader's home county, York.

Mentioned as possible compromise candidates, but lacking any strong backing, have been State Adjutant General Anthony Drexel Biddle, State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, State Secretary of Properties and Supplies John Rice; State Sen. John Dent, who is minority leader in the upper house; Berks County Judge Warren K. Hess, John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, and Greenfield.

PERCIVAL F. Brundage (above), Deputy Budget Director, is shown at his office in Washington after President Eisenhower named him Director of the Bureau of the Budget. He succeeds Rowland R. Hughes, who resigned for "compelling personal and family reasons." The resignation will become effective on April 1.
